Buenos Aires, Argentina

Rolf Art is pleased to announce the opening of Santiago Porter's (1971, Buenos Aires, Argentina) solo show titled Where I have never been. Curated by Joaquín Boz, the exhibition presents Porter's most recent production.

Where I have never been announce a turning point, a new approach by Santiago Porter. Working with organic, unstable, strange, and foreign materials Porter makes a leap & turns the page to stay longer within the painting practice. He enters into an unresolved space, with close references, forgetting any learned techniques, even to erase and try to understand new gestures. Porter wants to unlock something and that seems to be the cause of his entry into painting. He comes back to us with deliberate questions: How do we get into places we've never been? How do we get there and should it affect us? And if it affects us, how are we affected? What do we leave out and what do we take with us? And for an idea to be unlocked? An extensive period of time that proposes release a new form, in this opportunity, perhaps forever. Joaquín Boz

The opening of the show will take place on Thursday, August 4th, 2022 from 6pm in Esmeralda 1353, Buenos Aires, Argentina. The exhibition, free entry, can be visited from Monday to Friday from 11am to 7pm, until October 24, 2022.

Hope you can join us!

SANTIAGO PORTER

Statement

Santiago Porter has worked stubbornly through photography and painting on the deep and sensitive relationship between the aspect of things and their history. From his images, the vestiges (personal and private, public and collective) show that nothing and nobody disappears completely, nothing and nobody can become in total absence. From the investigation, turned into silent observation, Porter records the imprint of existence that is forever impregnated in materialities, he reflects on condensed memory, time and the history of peoples as a community. The individual stories and the social frameworks. Porter applies in his work a point of view that runs along the edges, the margins, looking beyond the obvious of the common place where the gaze can stop. His photographs show us what things evoke, they reveal their essence and they are not satisfied with their literal appearance because the interest doesn't lie there but in the hidden, silenced aspect of their existence. Some sort of radiography of the invisible. The poetic density of his work is in tune with the technical and plastic resources that he uses to capture those dense, uninhabited, stripped, gray, and overwhelmingly lonely atmospheres but which hide behind their veil, the DNA of their existence.

JOAQUÍN BOZ | Bio

Joaquín Boz (1987, Rojas, Buenos Aires) studied art at the National University of Rosario. Between 2009 and 2011, he attended Claudia del Río's crits and began to paint, first combining drawing and painting, figuration and abstraction, and later concentrating wholly on abstract painting. His pieces focus on the evolution of work and the investigation of materials, a limited number of elements transformed over time by the techniques chosen and the different ways of combining them. Every painting exhibits the presence of countless discrete decisions and organic networks of marks that record the artist's intimate and pointed conversations with his materials. In 2011, he moved to Buenos Aires on a YPF Foundation grant as Artist of the Interior to participate in the Torcuato Di Tella University's Artists' Program coordinated by Jorge Macchi. He also attended Valentina Liernur's crits. In 2018, he received a scholarship for a three-month residency at the International Studio & Curatorial Program (ISCP), New York. He was awarded Second Prize at the Ninth Banco Central National Painting Salon (2016), First Prize at the Sixty-Eighth Rosario National Salon (2014), First Prize in Proyecto A (2013) and the Acquisition Prize in Drawing by the Santa Fe National Salon (2009). He was also shortlisted for the Federico Jorge Klemm Prize for the Visual Arts (2018), the Buenos Aires Biennial of Young Art (2013), the Braque Prize (2013) and Curriculum 0 (2011).
